

OPPORTUNITY: Tell your Political Leaders to Promote our Personal Prosperity.

A MANDATE FOR CONGRESSIONAL REPRESENTATIVES

My representatives will arrange for, initiate and manage the development and establishment of a performance-based study of Economics. My representatives will measure and publish the average personal prosperity of the citizens of the United States in terms of what citizens expend on productive efforts, and what they receive in goods and services that are generated by our economy.

My representatives will legislate the resources to perform economic analysis of legislation for each bill's impact upon personal prosperity. This shall be published prior to implementation as law, except where a bill is approved by more than two thirds of both the House and the Senate.

My representatives will also arrange for, initiate and manage the development and establishment of a performance-based economic engineering study to document and publish practical rules, processes and procedures for implementation of the new economic science. The result of this effort shall be published and promoted for the purpose of maximizing the personal prosperity of the citizens of the United States of America.
