

OPPORTUNITY: Tell Legislators to Assure Management Specific Reporting.

A MANDATE FOR STATE & FEDERAL LEGISLATORS

My representatives are to legislate that reporting by corporations to owners include specific report of special costs incurred by or through exception management actions, or by supporting efforts other than performance. This shall include the cost of maintaining effective coordination and teaming in the organization as measured by the need for special programs or employees to handle disputes between employees and/or managers, or to handle complaints or product returns from customers. It shall include the procurement of external management or support efforts. Costs and benefits of training and other employee-improvements shall also be included.

All these special costs shall be addressed as either necessary costs or as investments. They shall identify where costs are incurred, and any benefit to be accomplished in terms of impact on corporate income, or on reduction or control of corporate operating expenses (as with special health or safety training).
